ABOUT THE ROLE

Reporting to the Project Operations Manager, the Plumber Foreman assumes the crucial responsibility of overseeing the daily leadership and management of plumbing re-pipe projects across Lower Mainland. These projects predominantly involve occupied structures, encompassing a variety of large and mid-size condominium towers, rental buildings, and townhome complexes. The Plumber Foreman will lead crews (comprised of five to 15 tradespeople) to ensure smooth operations and timely project completion. The position requires meticulous planning and execution of short- and long-term project timelines and deliverables.

This is an exciting trades leadership opportunity within the private, mechanical re-piping sector. The ideal candidate is an experienced Red Seal Plumber with a minimum of five years' experience in relevant trades including the construction and/or industrial space. In addition, this position requires experience and a genuine interest in leading and developing teams leveraging a great attitude, work ethic, and interpersonal skills.

The offered package includes a competitive hourly wage aligned with market rates ($40.75/$43.75/hour), a monthly vehicle allowance of $125.00 ($0.75/hr), profit-sharing opportunities, comprehensive training, and a benefits package encompassing health and dental coverage.
