POST IDI Instructional Technology Course

Monterey, CA
April 17-18, 2023

This course develops participants' teaching skills by engaging them with relevant instructional technologies, focusing on the effective use of presentation software such as Microsoft PowerPoint, Apple Keynote, and Google Slides. In a highly active environment, participants will be given opportunities to modify and improve their own digital presentations to better support the courses they teach. While there is no prerequisite for this class, some form of prior instructor development training is highly recommended. Attendance in this course is required for those who wish to complete the Intermediate Level of IDI. Note that laptops are required for this course – tablets or smartphones will not be accepted.
